Fund Manager's Comment

In October 2024, the MSCI Asia Pacific Islamic ex Japan Index (MIAPJ) closed lower by 9.2%. Australia became the worst performers led by BHP Group due to market disappointment over China stimulus leading to lower commodity prices. In addition, South Korea was also another laggard because Samsung Electronics remained under pressure. Samsung Electronics has become one of the worst performers throughout 2024 due to: 1) falling behind their competitors in making chip for AI, 2) concerns over strike in India, and 3) corporate scandal. In terms of sectors, Materials and Information Technology were among the worst performers and no sectors generated positive return in October 2024.
